CARIBBEAN DREAMING

Occupying a breathtaking spot on the unspoilt island of Dominica, Secret Bay is one of the Caribbean's top resorts. A collection of private residences allows buyers to make the most of this fantastic setting – the architectural, treehouse-style villas are perched high on the cliffs, with extraordinary views across the waves. Built in an environmentally conscious manner, using sustainable materials, the properties feel contemporary and luxurious. With access to the resort's excellent service and amenities, The Residences at Secret Bay provide the perfect getaway.

From $1.49 million.

STYLE WITH SUSTAINABILITY

At the London-based interior-design company Studio Suss, the focus is firmly on creating spaces that are both luxurious and sustainable.

Founded by Simone Suss in 2013, the company employs cutting-edge industry practices and uses natural materials wherever possible. Working with both private and commercial clients, its projects have ranged from newbuild properties for high-net-worth individuals to branded offices and retail spaces, all of which have resulted in stylish contemporary interiors that are kinder to the planet.

ESSENTIAL ADVICE

Whether you're looking to buy a dream property in the Home Counties or central London - or if you'd like help with discreetly selling one - then Garbett & Partners are able to help. 'Never before have we ever had such focused purchasers and vendors seeking genuine property advice and direction, in what was undoubtedly a turbulent and rollercoaster year,' says the company's founder, Tim Garbett (pictured). With the market in such a changeable state, engaging the assistance of a property-advisory service can be invaluable in navigating the ins and outs of buying or selling a house.
